

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE-United States, 2021-April 18 — /ToStories/ — Fiction author Patricia M. Muhammad discusses her debut historical romance novel, Love Captured.

Love Captured is a historical romance novel set in the 18th century. We follow the protagonist, Emmeline from her sheltered roots of a plantation mansion in the North Carolina colony, across the unfriendly tides of the Atlantic Ocean to the shantytown of Liverpool, England. She relies on the help of kind strangers, including the benevolent society to uncover the truth about her heritage. Emmeline seeks her own 'freedom', but has to ensure her efforts aren't thwarted, even by a handsome duke, John, who attempts to befriend. The courtier is sheltered in his own way and seeks after an answer to chart his own path and define himself, free from the influence of his mother and father. They realize that what they were searched for lie with one another. As they endeavour to secure their relationship and marriage, envious maidens and her heritage seem to be unrelenting obstacles to their newfound happiness. Will what they have worked for result in their happily ever after?

Love Captured is one of five historical romance novels Patricia has written and published.
